

Teacher

When I was 5, you took my hand
And led me to my desk.
I understood that you were there
To put my mind at rest and help me be my best.

When I was 15, you welcomed me
And told me to explore.
“Your future lies ahead,” you said,
“So look around to see what’s just outside the door.”

When I was 18, you smiled and said,
“Your future is waiting just there.
I’ve helped you along the way and now
It’s time to show the world what you have to share.”

Thank you for teaching me what I needed to know,
Not just math and science, to read and write.
But everything in between and more.
It has helped make my future full and bright.

Thank you.
